A good book that lets parents help their kids begin to read

By A Customer

Bibs is a beginning reader book that features a cat (Bibs) and a dog (Lucky). The words include both phonetic and sight words. There is a pre-test and a post-test, but instructions for administering it are not in the student edition -- they are probably in the teacher's companion guide. My six-year-old kindergartener enjoys the simple story lines, and is eager to read more each day.

Excellent Series

By P. Belfiglio

This is the first title of nine in the Merrill Reading Skilltext series (starts of with Bibs, Mack, Joy, etc.). We have been using this series as adult literacy tutors and it has been working very well. 'Bibs' is targeted for reading level grade 1.2 students. You can do so much with the informational instruction (create word lists, Power Point or Keynote presentations, etc.) and each title includes a pre-test for the next level. I highly recommend this series for anyone learning to read--children or adults.

Granddaughter loves it

By Susan Thormahlen

My granddaughter is in first grade and really likes using this book. It has a short phonics based story with pictures on first page. The second page has a short and easily understood phonics practice, plus a multiple-choice for the main idea of the story.
