Chico & Rita Visual -Fest

By Regina Y. Nunley

I saw the movie "Chico & Rita" three times in Los Angeles, once with the director, Fernando Trueba at Landmark. Chico is one of the most visually rich and romantic movies I have seen in a long time. I mentioned this movie to a dear friend, and he got the graphic novel. I had never heard of the term graphic novel, but I was told it was all the drawings from the movie done by Javier Mariscal and Mr. Trueba. Since then, I have hunted for the DVD online, but one day lo and behold I came upon the graphic novel. I immediately ordered it, and when it arrived, it made me cry..the drawings and the text, like an adult comic strip made me mentally revisit the beautiful film I love so much...It is soooo cool to read the story and see the exquisite rendering of each scene. I will treasure this book, like I did viewing the movie, and like I do the cd that my friend gave me...What a grand piece of art the book is!

Buds mom, Montebello,CA

By Elena Horcasitas

I have always loved Latin jazz. I appreciate the Cuban sound since I was a little girl growing up in the 50 and 60. The romantic story line enhanced the music as well as providing a little historical education. Once again we are shown how deep love can be. I really loved this movie and have shared with my friends who had also enjoyed the movie. After, this movie made for fantastic conversations over mojitos, Bacardi and coke, and jack Daniels. Brought up old memories.

If you grew up or is a fan of Latin jazz in the 50s and 60s you might enjoy this movie.
