POSSESSIVE: POEMS BY SALLY VAN VAN DOREN PDF

Sally Van Doren's imaginative new collection offers bold and beguiling poems. Uttered in intense lyrical bursts that reflect the poet's command of language both familiar and strange, the visually dramatic moments gathered here probe the time-honored themes of love and death with candor and intimacy. The poems range in tone from a tongue-twisting search for identity to a plea to engage others in the refutation of pain: "My discreet sorrow / Hides in the dichotomy / Of your duplicitous palm / Offer me your hand / Our patty-cake will / Clap away antipathy." Drawing from sources as varied as the Bible, pop music, American politics, Italian Renaissance architecture, and poetry from Catullus to Wallace Stevens to OuLiPo, the poems unite in their unabashed examination of the uncertainties of life. In several poems, the voice of Eve reimagines the repercussions of original sin. In others, Van Doren chronicles vehicles of present-day suffering, "e-mailed poultices," "day-glo ambulances," and being "drafted against our will into kinetic wilderness." Throughout the collection, recognitions of despair are counterbalanced by assertions of hope: "we dug for glory / for healing not / born from pain."

SALLY VAN DOREN SOARS

By Robert Nazarene

Sally Van Doren proves, emphatically, her genius as one of America's most compelling and distinctive poetic voices. In this, her second volume of poems--following her greatly auspicious beginning in "Sex At Noon Taxes"--Ms Van Doren takes her place beside the genre's most far-thinking poets: among them: Dara Wier, Troy Jollimore, Alice Notley, John Berryman and the likes. In Possessive she stands shoulder-to-shoulder with these greats in demonstrating her virtuosity with language--always fresh and exhilarating--with no loss to meaning. These are poems which do what is almost never seen in the current canon: they are both disturbing and consoling. Here, you can restore your faith in the--importance--of poetry.

A Love Affair

By Sarah Van Cleve

A delightful challenge for any one, A magnificent command and love of words and a flirtatious playful use of them as well as a somber side..
